

Equality, diversity, and inclusion policy

Royal Docks Church (RDC) is committed to encouraging equality, diversity and inclusion among our workforce and volunteer base, and eliminating unlawful discrimination. This is part of the outworking of our Christian faith and our belief that we are all made in the image and likeness of God. Therefore the aim is for our workforce and volunteer base to be truly representative of all sections of society and that every person should feel respected and able to be themselves. Royal Docks Church is also committed against unlawful discrimination of church members, beneficiaries, guests or the public.

The policy's purpose is to:

- provide equality, fairness and respect for all in our employment or offering help as a volunteer, whether temporary, part-time or full-time.
- not unlawfully discriminate because of the Equality Act 2010 protected characteristics of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race (including colour, nationality, and ethnic or national origin), religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation.
- oppose and avoid all forms of unlawful discrimination. This includes in all aspects of employment and volunteering and dealing with complaints.
- Notwithstanding the above, it may be a requirement for some paid and volunteer roles within the Church that the applicant be a practising Christian, under the "occupational requirement" regulations of the Equality Act.

The organisation commits to:

- Encourage equality, diversity and inclusion
- Create an environment free of bullying, harassment, victimisation and unlawful discrimination, promoting dignity and respect for all, and where individual differences and the contributions of all employees, church members and volunteers are recognised and valued.
- In addition to these, RDC will take positive steps to help redress the effects of unfair discrimination and disadvantage that has prevented people from accessing church activities including on the basis of culture, caste, class, political beliefs and offending background, gender, responsibility for dependants, health, appearance, HIV status, and any other specific factors which may result in discrimination.
- RDC will do all it can to ensure no one will receive less favourable treatment or is to be disadvantaged by requirements or conditions, which cannot be shown to be justifiable.

- This commitment includes training employees about their rights and responsibilities under the equality, diversity and inclusion policy. Responsibilities include staff conducting themselves to help the church provide equal opportunities, and prevent bullying, harassment, victimisation and unlawful discrimination.
- All staff should understand they, as well as their employer, can be held liable for acts of bullying, harassment, victimisation and unlawful discrimination, in the course of their employment, against fellow employees, volunteers, church members, beneficiaries, guests, suppliers and the public.
- Take seriously complaints of bullying, harassment, victimisation and unlawful discrimination by fellow employees, customers, suppliers, visitors, the public and any others in the course of the organisation's work activities.
- Such acts will be dealt with as misconduct under the organisation's grievance and/or disciplinary procedures, and appropriate action will be taken. Particularly serious complaints could amount to gross misconduct and lead to dismissal without notice.
- Further, sexual harassment may amount to both an employment rights matter and a criminal matter, such as in sexual assault allegations. In addition, harassment under the Protection from Harassment Act 1997 – which is not limited to circumstances where harassment relates to a protected characteristic – is a criminal offence.
- Make opportunities for training, development and progress available to staff and volunteers.
- Decisions concerning staff being based on merit (apart from in any necessary and limited exemptions and exceptions allowed under the Equality Act).
- Review employment practices and procedures when necessary to ensure fairness, and also update them and the policy to take account of changes in the law.
- Monitor the make-up of the workforce and volunteer base regarding information such as age, sex, ethnic background, sexual orientation, religion or belief, and disability in encouraging equality, diversity and inclusion, and in meeting the aims and commitments set out in the equality, diversity and inclusion policy.
- Monitoring will also include assessing how the equality, diversity and inclusion policy, and any supporting action plan, are working in practice, reviewing them annually, and considering and taking action to address any issues.

The equality, diversity and inclusion policy is fully supported by the senior management.

Use of the organisation's grievance and/or disciplinary procedures does not affect an employee's right to make a claim to an employment tribunal within three months of the alleged discrimination.
